

AMERICAN SIGN LANGUAGE FAQs

Choose expert American Sign Language professionals today and create an inclusive culture for your employees, clients and customers.

Why does my business need ASL services?

As well as allowing those deaf or hard of hearing a way to understand and communicate, compliance with the Americans Disabilities Act is mandatory for organizations. This means that businesses should ensure that every individual has the same opportunities to participate in American life. As a business owner, it's your responsibility to ensure that everyone is included and that your organization meets the above requirements.

How does it work?

Think of interpreters like a communication conduit. They inspire and facilitate communication amongst individuals and relay information back to those who are deaf or hard of hearing using signs.

Where is ASL used?

Meetings, interviews, conferences and more - American Sign Language can be utilized wherever language accessibility is required. This includes both in-person events and virtual occurrences.

WHAT MAKES ACCESSBRIDGE STAND OUT?

At AccessBridge, we're a one-stop shop for translation and interpretation. For starters, we're hugely passionate about helping everyone to communicate with confidence and believe no-one should be left out. All of our interpreters are also certified, qualified and registered by the Registry of Interpreters of the Deaf (RID).

When it comes to ASL interpretation, experience and a personal touch matters - which is why our team is made up of professionals who will go above and beyond to help. Our vetting process is stringent, our team can be relied upon and you can trust us to provide a quality service - every time

